

ANY MOMENT

Pope Leo's Death is Expected According to Latest Bulletin From Rome.

Fifth Day Since Excretions Have Practically Ceased --Pope Lays in State of Almost Complete Coma--Reports of Mental Activity Said to be Exaggerated.

ROME, July 14--7 p. m.--The latest advices from the Pope's bedside are that he is sinking rapidly. He is delirious and his death is expected at any moment.

ROME, July 14--(Bulletin)--The Pope has been more delirious since noon, and has not been able to recognize any of his attendants. This afternoon completes the 5th day since the Pope's excretions have practically ceased. Though the prelate is taking but a minimum amount of nourishment, the amount of poison in his system has reached a dangerous quantity.

PARIS, July 14--Cardinal Rampolla this morning telegraphed the Nuncio confirming the extreme gravity of the Pope's condition.

ROME, July 14--(Bulletin)--The official bulletin issued by the Pope's physicians this morning showed that His Holiness was still in a most critical state. The bulletin follows:

"Up to 8 o'clock this morning no change was observed in the grave condition stated yesterday evening. His Holiness' pulsation is 92, his respiration 30, his temperature 36.5 centigrade."

(Signed.)

"LAPIONI AND MAZZONI."

Rome, July 14--The dawn of the 11th day of the Pope's latest illness found the prelate hovering on the borderland between life and death, his body barely showing signs of life and his mind for the greater part of the time wandering. His marvelous vitality alone defers final dissolution.

Last night was a sleepless time at the Vatican. A light burned in the room of Cardinal Rampolla, the papal secretary of state until daybreak.

Prelates were constantly going to and from the cardinal's apartment, asking for news while the telephone in his room was continuously ringing. All through the night the various embassies at Rome kept up a constant stream of queries at the Vatican as it was generally expected that the end would come before morning.

At 3 o'clock this morning a report was started that the end was swiftly approaching. This was caused by the summoning to the Vatican of Count Moroni, the pontiff's nephew. The count, however, left a little later. During the night the Pope had no entirely lucid intervals. He was sometimes delirious, but for the greater part of the time lay in a state of coma. One of the cardinals who entered the sick room for a moment said to your correspondent:

"He looked like a corpse. I could scarcely believe he was alive."

"This morning after the grave bulletin was issued by His Holiness' doctors it was stated at the Vatican that the Holy Father would probably live for another day. The patient's wonderfully efficient heart action, while constantly growing weaker, does not threaten immediate exhaustion. The Vatican attendants, however at least, have now given up entirely and are merely counting the hours till the church will be without its head. There is hardly a possibility that his Holiness can again rally sufficiently to avert the end for any time.

JUDGE GRAY

Being Boomed for Poesidential Nomination--Pennsylvania Democrats Favor Man Who Presided Over Anthracite Coal Commission.

Pottsville, Pa., July 14--Judge Geo. Gray, of Delaware, former United States senator and president of the anthracite strike commission, is being quietly boomed in the anthracite region for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency.

As the result of a canvass that has been made throughout the region, it has been found that nearly all the miners' union officials who are Democrats are heartily in favor of his nomination, and since the reported collapse of the Cleveland boom both Cleveland men and Bryan men are enthusiastic in declaring that Judge Gray is a man who the essence would surely cure the Pontiff and is greatly disappointed at the refusal of the physicians to try the drug.

The long siege of waiting has worn out many of the watchers, and instead of the big crowds who a few days ago thronged about the front of the Vatican, St. Peter's square is almost empty today. Only two score of people are waiting about the Vatican portico for news.

ELOQUENCE

Of Senator and Judges Saved a Louisiana Negro from Lynching by a Mob.

Franklin, July 14--The eloquence of United States Senator M. J. Foster, Judges Allen and Smith and Sheriff Sanders was responsible for saving the neck of Esau Lorely, a negro Sunday night. Lorely attacked Mrs. Hebert, the wife of a prominent planter, with criminal intent, but allowed her to go without injury. Late Sunday night a mob was formed to take him out of jail and lynch him. As the mob was preparing to storm the jail Sheriff Sanders, Senator Foster and Judges Allen and Smith, by their stirring appeals, caused the mob to desist and to disperse quietly. The Judges promised a speedy and impartial trial.

TWO BRUTES

Charleston, S. C., July 14--Daniel Sumter, colored, was lodged in jail here today charged with rape. Last night, accompanied by another negro, he entered the house of James Grant, in the suburbs, and outraged Viola Grant, a 16 year old girl. MRS. MOLINEUX

Her Divorce Not Granted at Least for The Present--She Won't go on the Stage.

Sioux Falls, S. D., July 14--A rumor is in circulation among prominent Eastern members of the local divorce colony to the effect that the divorce decree of Mrs. Roland B. Molineux has been rejected, and will not be granted for the present, owing to a statement which she made soon after taking up her residence here last November, as to the purpose of her coming to South Dakota.

Under decisions of the U. S. Supreme court in divorce cases which have been appealed to it, a residence established in one state by a citizen of another for the express purpose of securing a divorce is not of a bona fide character.

New York, July 14--Alfred Jones, the Sioux Falls, S. D., hotel man who is said to enjoy the confidence of more divorcees than any other man, not even excepting "Abe" Hummel, has arrived at the Waldorf.

"Many persons," said Mr. Jones, "have asked me about Mrs. Molineux and her suit. She told me she expected to get a divorce. She lived in my hotel, the Cataract, for more than six months."

Mr. Jones did not think Mrs. Molineux was practicing her vocal scores with a view of going on the stage in a musical comedy, although the pretty New Yorker said she had many offers from Broadway managers.

NEW ASST SECRETARY OF WAR.

Oyster Bay, July 14--At the conference yesterday between President Roosevelt and Secretary Root, it was decided to appoint Robert Shaw Oliver of Albany to be assistant secretary of war, vice William Cary Sanger, resigned.

Mr. Sanger has decided to retire on account of the ill health of his wife.

Not more than 350 square miles of territory are under cultivation in hen-equin or sisal hemp, yet on this small area is produced the fibre that literally binds the wheat harvests of the world. It is used alike in Minnesota and Argentina, in Siberia and Egypt.

PRINCE

VISITED ADMIRAL COLTON ON BOARD KEARSARGE.

Roosevelt and Edward VII. Toasted-- Reception to be Given Today-- King Dined by Ambassador.

Portsmouth, Eng., July 14--The prince was received on the quarterdeck of the Kearsarge by Admiral Cotton and his officers and the party descended to the admiral's cabin for breakfast, at which President Roosevelt and King Edward were toasted. Admiral Cotton subsequently escorted the Prince of Wales around the ship. The deck of the Kearsarge presented a striking scene at the time of the Prince of Wales' arrival, with the men in white uniforms and with arms linked, lining the turrets, bridges and rails.

Arriving on the quarterdeck, the prince saluted the other guests and proceeded below to the quarters of the admiral, which, for the luncheon, were thrown together, the tables being tastefully decorated with flowers. The prince sat on Admiral Cotton's right. Warrant officers of the Kearsarge gave a smoker last night to the warrant officers of the British ships.

Admiral Cotton has invited several hundred officials and officers with their families to a reception on board the flagship.

London, July 14--Count Wolf Metternich, the German ambassador, gave a dinner to King Edward at the German embassy Monday night.

Which Has Been Put on Permanent Footing in Louisville, Ky.-- Advisory Committee Appointed.

Louisville, Ky. July 14--The strike insurance company which has been the subject of much discussion for some time has been put on a permanent footing with W. C. Jones of this city, as attorney and manager. The company will be known as the Employers' Underwriters, or the Reciprocal Exchange. The advisory committee will be composed of D. M. STORMY PROTEST Against Address of Welcome to King Edward in Dublin--Meeting Ends in Riot.

Dublin, July 14--Wild scenes yesterday marked the second debate by Municipal corporation on the question of presenting an address of welcome to King Edward on his arrival in Dublin. The public gallery was filled with people long before the meeting began and the huge crowd which was shut out subsequently broke down the doors in an effort to get in. Lord Mayor Harrington made a violent speech against the address and compared the Nationalists who favor it to men who had "sold the Irish Parliament."

Maud Gonne (Mrs. McBride) was among the demonstrators, who continued the uproar until the Lord Mayor finally called in the police, who cleared the hall.

After a stormy sitting of four hours the motion in favor of the address was defeated by 49 to 37 votes.

REPORT ON PLAGUE.

Washington, July 14--United States Minister Wilson makes from Santiago, Chile, a rather long report by cable to the state department, touching the plague. He says the disease has spread to nearly all Chilean ports; that the postal service is disorganized and that no American mail has been received at Santiago for nine weeks.

PARDON

Obtained for Barker by Rev. Keller, Whom the Former Shot Because of Wife's Story.

Arlington, N. J., July 14--Thomas G. Barker, who shot the Rev. John Keller because of a story told him by Mrs. Barker, owes his freedom to the fact that the clergyman himself made a written appeal to the board of pardons on Barker's behalf.

Mrs. Barker is here in seclusion, awaiting the return of her husband, who was paroled yesterday from the penitentiary at Trenton, where he had served two years and twelve days of a five year sentence, imposed by Recorder Blair in Jersey City.

Mrs. Geo. Wilson one of the strong anti-Barker people said:

"This is an outrage. That man committed a horrible crime and he ought to bear the full burden of it. It is an outrage on, and dangerous to, society to let him out of jail. I devoutly hope and pray that he will not settle down here."

WON'T RUIN ANY MORE HOMES.

Fairfield, Ill., July 14--L. E. Connor an attorney, said five times at J. B. Crews, a prominent furniture dealer, of this city Monday, three shots taking effect. After the shooting Connor gave himself up to an officer and sent word to his wife that he had shot Crews, and that he (Crews) would not ruin any more homes. Connor, who moved here a year ago from Danville, Ill., is a prominent Republican politician, and Crews is secretary of the Republican county committee. Connor was released on $2,000 bond. It is thought Crews will recover.

RICH GOLD STRIKE

Gunnsion, Colo., July 14--What purports to be the greatest gold strike ever made in Colorado is heralded from Wamsutter, Hot Springs, in the Box canyon district, 25 miles east of Gunnison. The report of the rich find has spread like wildfire and hundreds of prospectors are going to the region on horse back and rigs, day and night to locate mines. It is claimed that the ore runs $1,000 a ton.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORS

Narrowly Escape a Serious Disaster--Twenty Are Injured.

Great Tent Was Raised by the Wind and Dropped on 8,000 People--Crowd Rescued from the Wrecked Canvas--Praise Meetings in the Churches.

Denver, Colo., July 14--The big Tent Endeavor in which the Christian Endeavor Convention has been held for the last four days, was blown down today while more than 8,000 persons were under the canvas, and nearly a score of men and women were slightly injured. Mrs. Jennie M. Thornburgh, of Denver, was the most severely hurt. Her nose was gashed and her scalp received several cuts.

A. M. Ramsey of Chicago quickly sprang on a chair and called to the people to hold up the canvas and the poles. This allowed the air to circulate and suffocation. As it was many women fainted and were extricated from the folds of the canvas with much difficulty.

Mrs. Winifred Sleep of Denver, who was in charge of St. Mark's hospital tent, seeing the catastrophe at the big tent, telephoned to the electric light company to shut off the current. This prevented any danger from the live wires that had fallen with the tent poles.

As soon as most of the imprisoned delegates had been extricated from the folds of the tent they congregated in the open air and held an impromptu praise service.

The session was in full progress in the tent when there were signs of rain and some wind crept under the roof of the tent, whose sides were rolled up to admit the air. A sudden squall lifted up the big canvas as if it were a balloon, and the immense stretch of cloth belled like a sail in a gale. The guy ropes and the main poles were pulled from their places and, the gust of wind, momentarily ceasing, the tent roof collapsed.

Even as the tent was in the ascent many of the worshippers became panic stricken. The screams set up by hundreds of women was hushed by the fall of the canvas. But before the collapse ended Mr. Ramsey had had time to spring on a chair and to call loudly on the men to hold up the canvas and to catch the poles as they fell.

Hundreds of men sprang to their feet almost before Mr. Ramsey called, and those who were not tripped by the entangling canvas caught the poles and balked the chute. More than a thousand persons, who had sat near the wall of the tent, escaped the coils of the tent and immediately formed themselves into a rescue corps. Those who fainted and those who suffered from injuries were quickly removed to the hospital tent.

The more seriously injured: Mrs. Thornburgh, Denver, wound in the forehead, serious; Allela Murdock, Denver, arm fractured; J. C. Peters, Alamosa, Colo., scalp wound; Miss Mary Ellis, Denver, bruised; Miss Fowler, Trenton, Neb., knee injured; Mrs. I. N. Johnson, Denver, bruised and fainted; K. C. Patterson, Alamosa, Colo., head cut; Miss Etta Ward, Chicago, hit by a large pole across the back.

During the day, which is the last of the convention, services were held in five churches, and the attendance was very large.

Rev. Sherwood H. Doyle, D. D., of Philadelphia, in speaking on "The Foreign Problem at Home", presented some carefully prepared immigration statistics, and in the course of his address said:

"Many of those who come to us from distant points have no intention of spending their days here. They are undesirable, socially, politically, intellectually, morally and spiritually. They have no understanding or comprehension of our political principles and institutions, and display great ignorance upon political subjects. They are morally and spiritually degraded.

"Our foreign problem at home is thus to be a very great one. We must Americanize and Christianize them or they will European and unchristianize us. In this work the church must bear a prominent part."

At the meeting of the Home Mission Class Mr. Chilver touched upon the recent lynching of negroes, and he got all the colored people present to agree with him that the outrages committed by the victims of mob violence were of the most fiendish sort, and called for the severest punishment.

"But," said the speaker, "there should not be one punishment for a black man and another for a white man for a similar crime."

Miss Cecelia Armstrong of the Garfield Boulevard Presbyterian church of Chicago, whose special church work is among the negroes said that she had heard the superintendent of a packing company in Chicago say that the negro was the probable solution of the labor problem, and that unless the labor unions became more rational in their demands the black man would secure the positions.

The final meeting of the convention arranged for at the big tent was abandoned and praise meetings were held in several churches. At the Central Presbyterian Church banners were carried by Christian Endeavorers in Oriental countries were presented to state unions which were able to show as large as 10 per cent increase in membership during the last year. The first prize went to the Nevada Union. Other state unions that received banners were Ohio, Louisiana, Alabama, Oklahoma, Indian Territory, Indiana, Georgia, West Virginia and New Mexico.

ANOTHER AIRSHIP

Prof. Langley of the Smithsonian Institute Will Soon Launch One That is Expected to Test the Practicability of Aerial Navigation.

Washington, July 14--After spending $20,000 of his private means and devoting all his spare time for seven years to the perfecting of his ideas for aerial navigation Prof. S. P. Langley of the Smithsonian Institute, is about ready to launch an airship which he believes will be a success, the trial will be made at some point on the Potomac river near Washington, the exact location being kept a secret. The ship will be launched from the roof of a huge house boat which will be towed to the starting point by a tug. The flying machine is clear shaped about 60 feet in length, constructed of steel and brass. The motive power is gasoline, the engine being 25 horse power and exceedingly light in weight. The machine is fitted with a small platform, surrounded by a railing, capable of holding a man in a sitting or standing position. More than $70,000 has been expended in developing the machine, of which congress appropriated $50,000. Eight to ten men are engaged at work upon the airship, placing it in position and adjusting the various parts. The men are skilled machinists from the Smithsonian Institute. At night a guard of soldiers kept would-be visitors away from the boat.

As the outcome of much painstaking investigation the existence has been demonstrated of a class of human beings called moral imbeciles. Their essential characteristic is complete moral insensibility, revealed by a total absence of repugnance to the suggestion of crime before the deed.

CLERKS

OPEN INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION AT ZANESVILLE.

A Fight is on for the Presidency of the International Association—City Crowded With Delegates.

Zanesville, Ohio, July 14—The reception committee of the local Clerks' union was overworked, for each incoming train brought delegates. More than a hundred delegates arrived during Monday to attend the International convention of the Retail Clerk's association.

The local reception committee is composed of O. F. Palmer, Lon Reamy and Will Nichols.

The round-up reveals the presence of the following executive officers in the city: President O'Brien of Buffalo, N. Y.; Secretary and Treasurer Max Morris of Denver, Colo.; First Vice President H. J. Conway of Chicago; Second Vice President George B. Squires of Washington, D. C.; Sixth Vice President, James J. Williams of Galveston, Tex.; Seventh Vice President Will F. Haeck of Columbus, O.

The constitution and law committee held a meeting in the Clarendon parlors during Monday. The committee is composed of W. G. Ford, Syracuse, N. Y., chairman; Charles O'Malley, Bloomington, Ill.; John A. Sullivan, Nashville, Tenn.; William G. Wheeler, Lynn, Mass.; and Nelson Johnson, Longmont, Colo.

The New York delegates made their headquarters at the Rogee. The Indiana, Pennsylvania and Ohio delegates are also established at that hotel. Among them are the following international organizers: J. H. Barlow, South Bend, Ind.; H. E. Hales, Colorado Springs; W. G. Ford, Syracuse, N. Y.

G. W. Ford, international organizer, attracted a great deal of attention by wearing on his coat a chameleon measuring five inches. He purchased the reptile in Florida, and it is his intention to present it to the next president of the organization.

The Chicago delegates are in and have already started a boom for H. J. Conway for president against O'Brien, who is a candidate for re-election. Conway is secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor and is backed by the Illinois delegation, 100 strong, as well as the delegates from St. Louis and other western cities. It is the East against the West.

The first session opened Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. Speeches were made by Mayor Deacon, President O'Brien and President Reamy of the local union. The Wednesday sessions will be of an executive nature, and the election of officers will probably be held on Thursday.

Tonight the visitors will be entertained at Gant Park by the locals.

FARMERS SWINDLED

Nine Men in Hancock County Neatly Taken In.

Findlay, O., July 14—At least nine Hancock county farmers have been made the victims of a pair of sharpers to the extent of $200 apiece in the last few days. This bunco game is worked with a fence machine instead of a gold brick, and is so simple that it has caught many shrewd men. The fellows approach the farmer and sell him a patent fence that is a meritorious affair. Then they mouce him to take the agency for the fence in perhaps two or three townships. Having made him terms they request that he give a note for $300 as a surety of good faith, promising that the note shall not leave their hands unless to protect themselves against a breach of agreement and that after he has sold so many machines, they will return the note. Nine of the notes have been taken up and held against the farmers.

DENNIS HAYES

GLASS BOTTLE BLOWERS' PRESIDENT MAKES ANNUAL REPORT

To International Convention Now in Session at Cincinnati—Reception to Foreign Delegates.

Cincinnati, O., July 14—The 27th annual convention of the Glass Bottle Blowers' International Association assembled at G. A. R. Hall, West Sixth street, Monday, and will be in session until Saturday.

There are 220 delegates, representing nearly every important glass manufacturing center in the United States and Canada, at the meeting.

International President Dennis A. Hayes, formerly of Newark, O., called the meeting to order and appointed the following committees on Credentials and Rules:

DENNIS HAYES.

On Credentials—E. D. Martin, of Clyde, N. Y., chairman, and Messrs. J. L. Edwards, John Pfifer, William Parks, James Bland, Edward Rodewig and Conrad Lohr.

On Rules—Andrew Dunlap, of Chicago Heights, chairman, and Messrs. Gervais Stratton, Charles W. Saul, Arthur Oppenheimer, H. R. Van Hook and Alfred Pennington.

After the committees were appointed the meeting adjourned to join the delegates to the Flint Glass Workers' Convention, which was in session at Odd Fellows' Temple, and both bodies led by a brass band, proceeded to the Pennsylvania depot to receive Messrs. J. J. Rudge of Birmingham, England, and John Hussey of Manchester, England, these gentlemen being the fraternal delegates from the Glass Workers' Association of Great Britain and Ireland to the Cincinnati conventions of the trade.

The foreign delegates were given a cordial greeting by their American fellow craftsmen, and were escorted to the Odd Fellows' Temple where an informal reception was tendered them, and today by invitation they will address the meeting.

The English delegates will make a brief tour of the country after the conventions adjourn, and return to England about August 15.

The afternoon session of the Bottle Blowers' Convention at G. A. R. Hall Monday was entirely taken up with the reading of President Hayes' annual report, in which he dwelt on the rapid growth of the organization in the past year, the problems of machinery and child labor in the trade, and the strikes at Bridgeton, Glassboro and Minetola, N. J., which have been the only serious disturbances in the trade in the past year.

The trouble at these points bears the distinction of being the most stubbornly contested battle with employees in the history of American trades union, having originated in April, 1932, over the employment of child labor in the factories.

The rapid introduction of glass-blowing machinery will be one of the most serious problems to be met at the present convention, and the close of President Hayes' report, the reading of which will be finished this morning will deal at length with this question.

The feeling among the delegates seems to be the adoption of a conservative policy in regard to the machines, and that while an effort should be made to control them so that members may not be thrown out of employment, it would be the part of wisdom for the national organization and its members to join hands with the employers in developing the best possibilities of the machines.

President Hayes' report was followed by that of the Vice President and General Secretary Launer. That of Mr. Launer showed the international union to be the strongest financial basis of any trades' union in America, with a balance of over $200,000 in its treasury and various funds. This amount is exclusive of the funds held in the treasuries of the local branches throughout the country, and which, it is claimed, amount to an almost equal sum.

BRUTALLY TORTURED.

A case came to light that for persistent and unmerciful torture has perhaps never been equalled. Joe Golobick of Colusa, Calif., writes, "For 15 years I endured insufferable pain from Rheumatism and nothing relieved me though I tried everything known."

I came across Electric Bitters and it's the greatest medicine on earth for that trouble. A few bottles of it completely relieved and cured me. Just as good for Liver and Kidney troubles and general debility. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by Frank D. Hall, druggist.

KEENE ON BIG AUTO RACE.

Glad Germany Won and Says Result Insures Another Contest.

The New York Herald's European edition publishes the following from its correspondent at Ballyshannon, Ireland:

Forball Keene, one of the competitors in the recent race in Ireland for the International Automobile cup, is enthusiastic in his praise of the race and the manner in which it was conducted.

"It is the best kept race that has ever taken place anywhere," he said to me at the finish. "There was nothing on the road to interfere with us, not even a chicken. I think it is a good thing for the sport of automobilizing that Germany won, though naturally I was sorry it was not I who won."

With the cup going to Germany, it is certain there will be a contest there next year. Had France won the contest would have been improbable. If England won, it might have been possible, but not certain. The race here was good enough for anybody to ride in.

"I noticed when traveling in the Paris-Berlin race that the people looked on the roads the same as in France, but I believe if Germany holds the race the Kaiser might use soldiers to guard the route and thus afford protection to the automobilists and the spectators."

With regard to the race in Ireland, there was no hitch. I enjoyed the contest and wouldn't have stopped but for a dangerous axle which provided a risk too great to take."

SUICIDE

OF CAMBRIDGE GLASSBLOWER IN CINCINNATI MONDAY.

Went to Attend the National Convention as a Delegate, But Said He Was Tired of Life.

Cincinnati, July 14—What is believed to be a deliberate suicide and one of the most remarkable on record, occurred at the Munro Hotel the victim dying shortly after being removed to the Betts Street Hospital.

George W. Simpson, a glass blower, whose home was at Cambridge, Ohio, came to this city July 4 to attend the glass workers' convention, and registered at the Munro hotel. A few days ago he began complaining of extreme nervousness and an attack of dyspepsia. He called upon Dr. Grimes, who prescribed him vomica. He took several doses. At midnight Sunday Simpson grew suddenly worse and Dr. Grimes was called in again. When the physician arrived Simpson told him he drank considerable water and had eaten several bananas. Dr. Grimes at once gave him a stimulant and a hypodermic injection of morphine, after which he left him a bottle of nux vomica, with instructions how to take it.

At 5 o'clock yesterday morning Simpson was in a critical condition, and Dr. Grimes was hurriedly summoned once more. The doctor found that the bottle of nux vomica he had left was only about one-third full. He at once questioned the patient who declared that he had spilled it. Dr. Grimes examined the floor, and finding that no part of the poison had been spilled, he accused the patient of having taken it. Not until the physician had applied the stomach pump did Simpson admit having drank the medicine. Everything possible was done for him, and as soon as possible an ambulance removed him to the Betts Street Hospital, where he died. Simpson told Dr. Grimes that he was tired of life, but would give no other reason for his act.

The dead man was 45 years of age and leaves a widow living in Cambridge, O. He also has a son living in Pittsburg and another in Philadelphia, Pa. Coroner Weaver was notified and at once began an inquest. He feels satisfied that the case is one of deliberate suicide and not of an accidental overdose.

Death, he said, was due to strychnine poisoning. The body will be shipped today either to his late home in Cambridge or to that of his relatives at Wellsburg, W. Va.

The delegates to the two conventions will meet at Odd Fellows' Temple and escort the body from Moorman's chapel at Fifth and Park, to the train. President Rowe of the Flint Glass Workers' Union, appointed a guard of honor to accompany the remains.

FEARS EVANSVILLE.

Louisville, Ky., July 14—John Tinsley, alias Lee Brown, the negro who killed Officer Louis Massey at Evansville, is giving the Jeffersonville Reformatory officials a great deal of trouble. He arouses the guards about midnight and pretends to be dying. Dr. Sharp has to be called and sedatives administered. Brown, or Tinsley, fears to be taken back to Evansville. In spite of his nervous fears he is improving and will soon be well.

EDWARD TO GO BOATING.

British King Proposes to Revive the Ancient Glories of the Thames.

The appearance of King Edward on the Thames during last Whitsuntide is taken as an earnest of his intention of spending much of his time on the water in the summer during his residence at Windsor, says a London cable dispatch to the Chicago Inter Ocean. The royal barges have been renovated and decorated, and a new launch has been built. A light craft has also been built for the Prince of Wales' little son. The king, moreover, has allowed it to go forth in other ways that he proposes to revive many of the ancient glories of the Thames.

The queen is also having preparations made for going afloat in royal state. A series of misfortunes attended the state pageants on the Thames arranged in recent years. The king's barge, Virginia Water, has not been used for more than thirty years. Last year orders were given that it should be decorated and taken to Windsor for the coronation, but when it had been beautified and the royal waterman had practiced the stroke the king's illness upset the plans, and it was taken back to the boathouse.

FREAKS OF KANSAS RIVERS.

Channels of Several Streams Have Been Changed by the Flood.

The recent Kansas flood in the Kaw river changed the channel of the stream very much and formed some new lakes, says a Topeka dispatch to the Kansas City Times. Near St. Mary's the river cut across a bend some seven miles around, the new channel being less than a mile and a half in length. The old channel is now a lake. Near Manhattan the river was shortened by two cuts. One leaves the old river bed a lake of several miles in length and the other is not much smaller. Both at Lawrence and Topeka new channels were formed, but the waters are to be diverted from these into the old courses.

There is hardly a ten mile stretch along the Kaw river where cutting has not been done by the swift currents—lopping off a short bend here and opening a new channel there. It is impossible to estimate what the total of this shortening will amount to, but it is no small number of miles. Another result of the flood was the gouging out of innumerable holes in the level bottoms far from the channel proper, some of them very deep.

Low Rate Excursion to Atlantic City, N. J., and Other Seaside Resorts.

In order to give its patrons an opportunity to visit the seashore at a nominal cost, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company will sell low rate excursion tickets to Atlantic City, Ocean City, Cape May and Sea Isle City, N. J., and Ocean City, Md., on Thursday, July 30, 1936.

Atlantic City, N. J., the most popular of the hundred or more resorts along the Atlantic Coast, is pronounced the finest watering place in the world. The great American Seashore Resort has kept pace with the times and prospered. The hotels have grown in number and size. Prosperity and popularity are with it.

The surf bathing, which has made Atlantic City famous is one of the wonders of the world. The sight during bathing hours defies description; men women and children in bathing costumes of various hues form a picture only to be seen at Atlantic City.

STOVE WORKS

WORK ON MAMMOTH STRUCTURE PROGRESSING RAPIDLY.

Although Many Could be Employed to Push the Work to Completion.

The work on the Wehrle mammoth new stove foundry in the West End, is progressing very satisfactorily, and considering the magnitude of the work very rapidly. The walls have been up for some time and the mammoth structure is nearly all under roof. When completed, as is well known, the new foundry will be the largest in the world being 1000 feet long by nearly 200 feet wide. When finished and in full running operation, the Wehrle Company will be enabled by their largely increased room and facilities, to turn out a much larger amount of work in a given time, than ever before, and to give employment to a larger number of hands permanently than ever before. Right now they will be glad to employ a great many more men on the building in order to push it to completion. Newark is certainly to be congratulated on having such a mammoth industry in her midst, managed and controlled by a man of such eminent ability.

SHOCKING TRAGEDY.

Man Kills His Half-Brother With Shot-Gun--The Aged Mother Suffering From Cancer Dropped Dead at the Sound of the Shot.

Union, Mo., July 14—Two persons are dead as the result of what is reported to be one of the most shocking crimes ever committed in this vicinity.

Joseph Smith 41 years old, is charged with killing his half-brother, John Rhodas, 26, with a shot-gun, almost disemboweling him.

Mrs. Eliza Rhodas the sixty year old mother of the men, lying in the next room suffering from cancer, sat up at the sound of the shot following the quarrel and dropped back dead. The tragedy occurred Monday on a farm 15 miles from Union. Smith was brought here under arrest by a neighbor.

Rhodas lived until this morning, suffering such agony that he begged his friends to put a bullet in his head.

The details of the affair are unknown here this morning. Smith does not deny killing his brother but says he does not remember firing the shot.

YOUNG MAN MURDERED

Ohio Boy, After Refusing to Ask for Money for His Own Ransom, Was Killed and His Body Sold to a Medical College.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 14.—Kenneth Lawrence a young man of Bellefontaine, O., of rich inheritance who disappeared three years ago and was supposed to have been killed in Philadelphia, was murdered in Indianapolis according to evidence now in possession of Sheriff West, of Logan county, O., and the mayor of Bellefontaine, who are here in consultation with prosecutor Ruckelshaus. Rufus Cantrell who was brought here from prison to testify in a grave robbing case, gave evidence that is positive to show that other grave robbers murdered young Lawrence because the latter refused to ask relatives for $10,000 ransom. Young Lawrence, according to Cantrell was chloroformed after being punished severely for not consenting to write for money, and the body sold to a medical college.

Dr. Henry Day, Newark's efficient health officer, was called to Warrenton, Va., on Monday by a telegram announcing the death of his sister. He will return in a few days.

Rev. F. B. Nash went to Lancaster Saturday evening and officiated at the Episcopal church Sunday. The reverend gentleman officiated recently at the Holy Trinity church, Brooklyn for two Sunday's and also at Trinity church in Boston.

Claude (Davidson) Thardo, of the Bijou Theatre, Brooklyn, N. Y., is in the city, visiting his father, W. H. Davidson. He has been playing with stiel companies at that theatre for the past three seasons.

President in Council.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 14—President Roosevelt is engaged today upon the Kishineff petition problem. The B'Nai B'rith committee, consisting of Leo N. Levi, Oscar S. Strauss and Simon Wolf, are his guests at Sagamore Hill and before luncheon went over the ground most carefully. The President has not been at all pleased over the apparent dilatoriness of the committee in preparing the petition and was not backward in telling them so. Even after the state department had made public its snappy statement of the American position in regard to the somewhat devious methods of Russian diplomacy and the President was anxious to follow it up by tossing the petition into the bear's mouth. He discovered that the committeemen were still in a chaotic condition of mind over the counts in the instrument. It is quite probable, however, that something definite will be done before the day is over.

Millions for 500 Dollars.

Duluth, Minn., July 14—The Shenango mine on the Mesaba range is to be unwatered immediately, and the ore body uncovered as soon as the pump can be lowered. Three shafts have been sunk and two abandoned because of the tremendous inflow of quicksand and water. But so far 20,000,000 tons of ore have been uncovered and the ore body is not yet thoroughly developed.

The mine is under a vast swamp, and will be one of the wettest properties in the lake region. Its owner will net $5,000,000 in royalties alone, on an investment of $700. He loaned that amount to a locally homesteader on the assumption that the property was covered with pine timber, and when the mortgage remained unpaid, foreclosed, only to find the property was waste land. He held it, however, because he could get no one to buy and now it will make him a millionaire.

S. navy, is on record with an official statement to the secretary of the navy that officers who remain on duty in the Philippines for more than one year are subject to both mental and physical deterioration. This report, though made some time ago, was only brought to light yesterday when it was put in evidence for the defense in the court martial case of Assistant Paymaster Phillip W. Delano.

A PHILADELPHIA DIAGNOSIS.

(Pittsburg Post)
Philadelphia philosophers are taking to self study in a hopeless effort to uncover and reform the enormities of its home government and municipal administration. It has been investigated by a notable article in "McClure's Magazine," and the "Arena" takes up the same subject. The writer says the city is afflicted with "moral locomotor ataxia, and inability to put into action the community's really high sense of right and wrong conduct," or, as the "North American" more plainly explains, "the characteristics of Philadelphia are mildewed personal respectability and political stupidity." The "Arena" article sets forth that—

"The citizens lack the virtue militant, that individually disagreeable, but socially valuable quality—pugnacity—the quality that leads on Englishman to spend 20 pounds to avoid the illegal exaction of a shilling. They are law-abiding, conservative to the point of allowing a rogue to rob them, if he only preserves the appearances and technicalities of legality. . . . They are very good, denounce wrong and uphold virtue in language truly affecting, but it is all vague and general; concrete wrong, particular and definite wrongdoing, they carefully steer clear of."

Outside of Philadelphia and its suburban surroundings all this is generally understood and appreciated in the State of Pennsylvania, for the people of the State are sufferers thereby, as well as the people of Philadelphia. The conclusion of the student of Philadelphia's civic abasement is that—

What such people need is to hear the cry of some fiery prophet like Carlyle thundering in their ears the truth of their mean world, that they must not forget "that ideals do exist; that if they be not approximated to at all the whole matter goes to wreck." Somebody must remind such people that there are ideals, that honorable official conduct and decent living do exist and flourish in all healthy societies, and that they dare not be ignored but a grave peril to the very life of the society. Loyalty to these is of higher sanction than loyalty to party, to city, to State or to country.

There is not much hope Philadelphia will listen to such counsel. It prefers the affectations of Pennypacker, that things are not so bad, that the bosses are good fellows and all are fairly comfortable, to the trenchant exposure of real conditions and the sink of depravity into which the great city has fallen.

GEN. CLAY

Reasons Why Proceedings Were Begun to Have the Sage of Whitehall Declared Insane.

Lexington, Ky., July 14—General Cassius Marcellus Clay, the aged "sage of Whitehall," who has just been declared insane by the courts at the application of his daughters, kept up to the last his eccentricities for which he is famous.

When the two physicians sent by the court to examine into his sanity arrived at the Clay place they found the owner waiting behind barricaded doors armed with two shotguns. Clay warned the doctors off his premises but by strategy they obtained enough conversation with him to enable them to report him as non compos.

Less than a week ago Riley Brock was killed by a train at Long View, Ill. That left a widow, Dora Richardson Clay Brock, who was known to fame, several years ago, as Clay's child wife. She married Clay when she was 14 years old. After a stormy married life she induced the general to consent to a divorce that she might marry Brock, who had been an early admirer.

On the expiration of his army enlistment, Brock married Dora, and Clay set them up in housekeeping, giving them a home in Woodford county, and furnishing it with tapestries, pictures and furniture which he had bought abroad, when he was United States minister to Russia. Brock got tired of the magnificence and sold out the place. Clay asked Dora to return to Whitehall and she did so but brought Brock with her. The general chased him off with a shotgun and Dora eventually followed her husband.

As soon as he heard she was a widow Clay wired Dora to ask her to return to him. She consented and prepared to make her home at Whitehall with her child, Cassius Marcellus Clay Brock. Then Clay's daughters went in to court. The reason they gave for their application was a claim that Clay was squandering his fortune, but it is understood the real purpose was to prevent the 93 year old "sage" from marrying his Dora a second time.

GENERAL CLAY DISARMED.

Lexington, Ky., July 14—The room occupied by General Cassius M. Clay at Whitehall, has been stripped of its weapons by order of the committee appointed by the court to take charge of his affairs. A trained nurse, sent from this city by Dr. Bullock to administer to General Clay has returned and the servants who have lived with General Clay for years reported to him that the nurse took his weapons. His appreciation of her services was immediately turned to hostility and he made dire threats.

FAIR EXCHANGE.

A New Back for an Old One—How It Is Done in Newark.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless, piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so sore to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new one. Follow the example of this Newark citizen.

Mrs. N. W. Jarvis, No. 105 North Fifth street, says: "When I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Crayton's I had been sick for some time. In fact I could not do anything, I felt so poorly. I had a severe pain in my back and was terribly weak. I had been taking treatment, first one and another, but I felt no better. My attention was drawn to a reading notice in our paper about Doan's Kidney Pills. Bad backs like mine had been cured, could mine be also? I decided to try them. They did for me what other medicines failed to do. They gently aided the kidneys and the pain in the back over the kidneys left me."

BAIL REFUSED

For Cincinnati Mother Who is Charged With Having Murdered Her Babe.

Cincinnati, July 14—Mrs. Anna Oppenheimer, who is charged with the murder of her baby, was before Judge Lucders yesterday morning, and was bound over to the grand jury without bail pending further investigation. The charge is murder in the first degree.

During the trial she appeared nervous, and watched the movements and listened to the statements of each witness with intense eagerness, commenting to her attorneys on their testimony. There was a large crowd of women and curiosity seekers in the courtroom during the trial.

Mrs. Oppenheimer was represented by Attorney Thomas Cogan, Thomas F. Shay and John R. Rhea of Russellville, Ky. During the trial she took a decided interest in the statement of each of the witnesses burying her head in her arms when damaging evidence was introduced.

ON THE GALLOWS

Dougall Paid the Penalty in England This Morning for the Murder of Camille Holland.

London, July 14—Samuel Herbert Dougall, the murderer of Camille Holland on the Moat farm, paid the penalty of his crime in Chelmsford Prison early this morning. He spent the last day in jail in a manner characteristic of a man who for 11 weeks faced the hooting crowds at Saffron, Walden and Newport with composure and contempt. The stories circulated regarding his collapse are not true. He has slept well, has eaten fairly well, smoked incessantly, and had a pint of beer yesterday at dinner. He was a gloomy occupant of the condemned pew at the morning service in the prison chapel. The chaplain and doctors saw him later. It was never anticipated that his confession, published in an evening paper the other day, would affect the sentence. Anyway, Dougall's allegation was that Miss Holland was shot accidentally by herself, and that his burial of her body in the ditch caused by his terror at what had occurred.

Shortly before the time of his execution Dougall made a new confession of his crime and acknowledge his guilt.

NEW COMET

Which is Nightly Growing More Brilliant is Discovered at the Lick Observatory.

San Jose, Cal., July 14—Prof. W. W. Campbell of Lick Observatory, gives out the following:

"The comet discovered by Borelli at Marseilles three weeks ago has been under observation by various members of the Lick Observatory staff. It promises to be an unusually interesting object. Its brightness has increased very rapidly until it is now as easily visible as a fourth magnitude star."

"On Monday evening, observers should experience no difficulty in detecting it about one or two degrees southwest of the bright star Alpha Cygni. Its motion is carrying it southward about five degrees daily."

"The orbit of the comet has been computed by Prof. Perrine. It is now in a parabola in such a way that its nearest approach to the sun will occur August 25, at a distance of about 31,000,000 miles. Its present distance from the sun is about one hundred million miles and from the earth about 20,000,000. To the unassisted eye the comet will appear as a hazy patch of light. An acute eye should be able to detect a short tail projecting away from the sun."

"Our photos have recorded two prominent tails, each several degrees in length. While it is always unsafe to make predictions as to how bright a comet will grow, yet there is little doubt that this one will be a fairly conspicuous object in the evening sky. In fact, I expect it to be the brightest comet of the past ten years."

In Vacation Time.

The school bell no longer is ringing, Nor will it for ever so long. Instead all the kiddies are singing: I don't know the words of the song. But I know that each rosy cheeked chap—

Excuses with real reason, For there's no one so happy, so happy, so happy as kids in vacation.

Foolish grown ups possess the opinion Vacations are made for a rest! Away with each radical notion! The kiddies believe me, know best. Their industry makes a man dizzy; But wins from him no approbation. For there's no one so busy, so busy, so busy as kids in vacation.

There are pools that invite you to swimming, There are nests that are chock full of eggs. O'er the grass butterflies gayly skimming Invite you to linger over legs. There are games (here my data get meager, As I'm lacking direct information)— Well, for games there is no one so eager, so eager.

So eager as kids in vacation. Still, the kids have their own share of trials. There are errands for things mother needs. And their wrath is too big for plain vials. When they pick from the garden their weeds. Here and there for odd things they are worried.

Ruffled feelings know great aggravation. For there's no one so worried, so worried, so worried as kids in vacation.

BOWSER'S STRANGE ACTIONS

He Spends the Evening at Home in a Quiet Manner and Makes His Wife Very Anxious

[Copyright, 1903, by C. B. Lewis.]
WHEN Mrs. Bowser sat down to her sewing the other afternoon she half expected that an express wagon would unload a fire escape or a patent alley gate at the door before the dinner hour. She also regarded it as highly probable that a man might come along with a new milk cow or a dozen hens purchased by Mr. Bowser earlier in the day.

Nothing out of the usual routine took place, however, and she made up her mind that he would bring home a bottle of spring tonic or a painting bought at an auction. She was disappointed in this as well. He quietly entered the house, carrying nothing but his umbrella and having failed to bang the gate after him in his usual vigorous style.

"Aren't you feeling as well this evening as usual?" she queried as she met

"You haven't got a telegram that mother's dead, have you?" asked Mrs. Bowser as she became nervous over the situation.

"No, dear. I should be very sorry if I had."

"And is business good?"

"Never better."

"And—and you haven't seen a doctor who told you that you had heart disease and were liable to drop dead at any moment?"

"No, nothing of the kind. I think my heart is all right."

The cat and Mrs. Bowser exchanged looks, but they could not make it out. The newspaper was full of things to be discussed or disputed, but Mr. Bowser wasn't saying a word. His cigar was a bad one, but he didn't utter one single threat against the seller. There was a hole in the heel of one of his socks, but he wasn't claiming to be a martyr and on his way to the poor-house.

The cat thought it over and grew suspicious and jumped down, and Mrs. Bowser thought it over and made up her mind to try a heroic remedy. The gas bill had come in that afternoon, and she took it off the mantel and said:

"I don't see how this comes. Our gas bill for this month is 35 cents more than last. I think you ought to investigate it."

"Oh, it's probably correct," indifferently replied Mr. Bowser, looking up.

On a hundred different occasions, even when the bill was smaller, he had waved it aloft and paraded around and threatened to sue and be sued clear to the court of last resort, but on this occasion he wouldn't even look at the figures.

There was one more remedy, and as soon as she could control her emotions Mrs. Bowser tried it. The range coal was out and some more must be ordered, and she so stated.

"Coal out, eh?" he repeated. "Well, dear, you made it last three days overtime and you'd better telephone the first thing in the morning."

"But do you think that last ton was as good as we have been getting?"

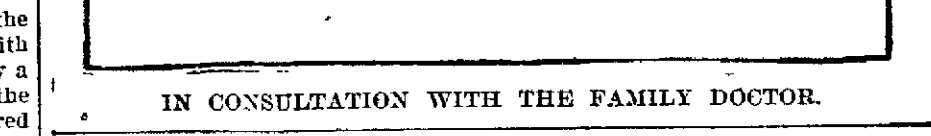

"Fully as good."

Neither the gas nor the coal question could start him, and Mrs. Bowser incidentally mentioned that the basement bell was out of order, the back door needed fixing and the boys in the street had thrown a stone and cracked a pane of glass in one of the upper windows.

Mr. Bowser made no reply for three minutes. Then he yawned out:

"Well, don't worry over these things. I didn't sleep very well last night and I guess I'll go to bed."

He bade her good night and went upstairs. Five minutes later she was at

in astonishment. He hadn't another word to say, nor did he utter a single complaint about the food. He spoke of the canal treaty and Roosevelt's chances of re-nomination, and when dinner was over he quietly observed:

"As the girl has gone, I will help you do the work."

"But you needn't do that. I can manage everything while you smoke and read."

He took off his coat and helped to clear the table, and when that had been accomplished he took his stand at the sink and washed the dishes for her to dry. His action brought tears to her eyes, but they were banished again by the thought that Mr. Bowser must have lost his mind since breakfast. It was years since he had been so quiet. Never in all his married life had he had a dishcloth in his hand. She had read and heard of people's minds becoming blanks, and as a test she softly asked:

"Can you remember all that happened to you today?"

"Certainly," he replied with a smile as he finished the last dish.

"And did you meet with any accident or hear any bad news?"

"Nothing at all, dear. Now we are done I'll have a smoke."

When he had taken a seat in the rocking chair in the sitting room the family cat leaped upon his knee for the first time in two years, and to her great surprise he did not at once try to break her neck. On the contrary, her spinal column was rubbed in a way to bring out perspiration, and he even extended the rubbing to her tail.

CARNIVAL OPENED

Mayor A. J. Crilly Presented Freedom of the City to Eagles, the Word was Given and In a Moment the Fair Was In Full Swing.

The Grand Carnival and Street Fair to be given during the week by Licking Aerie of Eagles, of this city, was formally opened Monday night, and promises to be a grand success from the start.

About 7:05 o'clock, the grand street parade started and after traversing the route prescribed, headed by the Wright Carnival band, and accompanied with a lavish display of fireworks, red fire etc., brought up in front of the Coliseum on the south side of the square, near Third street.

A tremendous crowd had assembled when Mayor A. J. Crilly stepped forward and in a short address presented Phil B. Smythe, Director General of the ceremonies, with a huge golden key, emblematic of the freedom of the beautiful city of Newark, which will be an accomplished fact during the week.

The director general accepted the key, and responded to the Mayor's address of welcome as follows:

Mr. Mayor, Ladies and Gentlemen, Brother Eagles—In ancient times when the citizens of cities relied upon the height of the walls and the strength of their locks and gates for the protection of their lives and liberty, the ceremony you have just performed was a stern and terrible reality. To place within the keeping of another the key to the life or liberty of all the people of a city was the very acme of confidence in the honor and integrity of that other. While this ceremony has lost this stern reality in these piping times of peace, it symbolizes that this city, its inhabitants and officials have all confidence in the honor and integrity of the membership of our fraternity, and I assure you Mr. Mayor, that your confidence will be respected and in nowise abused.

We are here today, in this public way desiring to introduce ourselves to the people of Newark, to claim a place in the list of secret societies of this city, with no desire or intention of interfering with or obstructing the work done by others.

We believe that there is a place in our social economy for the Eagles and every other fraternity ever organized, or which will ever be organized along similar lines. Such organizations tend to foster patriotism, manliness, sobriety and good citizenship generally; of such we cannot have too many. In such schools are tutored and graduated upright citizens who would not else where receive such teaching.

The order of Eagles is not an old organization, but it is rapidly gaining a high place in the great galaxy of fraternal societies. In its ritual will be found much beautiful sentiment, which if lived up to by its members will make them upright and law abiding citizens, good husbands and fathers and charitable friends.

We recognize that human nature is full of weaknesses and frailties, and while the teaching of the order is essentially that of morality we believe that if in the rugged path of life a brother trip and fall, it is more Christ-like, more noble, more manly to hold out to him the helping hand of a brotherly love, to lift him again to his feet, and guide those feet aright, than to hold aloof and condemn him with a cold and narrow assumption of moral and social superiority.

But the moral well being of a brother is not the only object of our organization. We believe that his material well being is just as important; hence the objects of our fraternity are twofold—social and protective.

When the dark cloud of adversity settles down about the home of a brother quickly will his aerie come to his aid and tide him over the rocky place in his path. No grim visaged spectre of want will ever darken the home of an Eagle; his wife and children will never suffer for the necessities of life, and the brother receiving such and is not subjected to the humiliation of accepting charity. He receives it as of right, it is his demand—"In the Eagles' nest all is peace and harmony,"—such is the law of the Eagles.

This, Mr. Mayor, is the purpose and design of this organization of men you have just welcomed to this city. Such men, guided by such lofty and manly sentiment, cannot, and will not abuse the confidence you repose in them.

Therefore, in the name of Licking Aerie of Eagles, No 387, and these visiting brothers, I thank you for the freedom of this beautiful city so generously bestowed, and for your confidence in our honor and integrity so fittingly expressed.

STRIKE SETTLED

And Central Union Telephone Linemen Went to Work Again This Morning.

The strike that has been on among the linemen employed by the Central Union Telephone, was settled Monday night at a meeting of the arbitration committee of the Trades and Labor Council and the company's manager.

The terms of settlement are satisfactory to both sides of the controversy, and involve concessions made by each side to the demands of the other.

Very Remarkable Cure of Diarrhoea.

"About six years ago, for the first time in my life I had a sudden and severe attack of diarrhoea," says Mrs. Alice Miller, of Morgan, Texas. "I got temporary relief but it came back again and again, and for six long years I have suffered more misery and agony than I can tell. It was worse than death. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for physicians' subscriptions and treatment without avail. Finally we moved to Bosque county, our present home, and one day I happened to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with a testimonial of a man who had been cured by it. The case was so similar to my own that I concluded to try the remedy. The result was wonderful. I could hardly realize that I was well again, or believe it could be so after having suffered so long, but that one bottle of medicine, costing but a few cents, cured me." For sale by all druggists.

FRESH AIR FUND.

Editor Advocate:—As the sweltering hot days of July and August are now upon us, and as our people have been most generous in the past in their gifts to many benevolent objects, a thought has occurred to me that we have almost entirely forgotten the sick and suffering among us, who were languishing upon beds of pain and anguish; who might be greatly benefited both mentally as well as physically, were they only able to change their environments—even for a day or a few hours, and enjoy the invigorating breezes of the country. Alas, how many there are among us today who would be only glad to avail themselves of an opportunity of this kind, but who have not the means of doing so. Here, most certainly, is a field for our philanthropic people to do good missionary work. Is there anything in this world that brings so much genuine happiness as to be able to relieve the suffering and unfortunate; to bring a smile to the face of the invalid and those languishing for a change of scene. The death rate among the sick in our cities is appalling during the sultry summer months. Many precious, human lives are being sacrificed, which, by a little timely precaution, might have been saved. Would it not then be very opportune to start a "Fresh Air Fund" and by this means give those who are not able an opportunity of enjoying the country breeze, or a ride on Buckeye Lake, or enjoy an outing at our beautiful Idlewild park. Will our good people think seriously of this matter, and show their philanthropy by contributing liberally and not grudgingly, to a fund, whose sole object will be to give the poor and unfortunate ones among us a chance to enjoy an occasional day of rest and change beyond the din and hustle of city life. Will we do it? We believe that we will. We make this earnest appeal in the name of humanity, knowing that our people have never been found wanting when appealed to for any laudable object.

FULL OF HONOR

CAPTAIN S. G. HAMILTON RESTS FROM LIFE'S BATTLES.

He Passed Away at His Home One Mile Northeast of Newark, on Monday Night.

Captain S. G. Hamilton, one of Newark township's oldest and best citizens, died at his country home about one mile northeast of Newark on Monday night at 10:25 o'clock, after a lingering illness of three months.

This brief announcement, although not entirely unexpected, will be read with sorrow by thousands of citizens of Newark and Newark township, who knew and respected Capt. Hamilton so well in life, and who sincerely mourn him in death. A life long resident of Newark township; a man of most excellent character; generous of heart; kind of impulse, and a chivalrous gentleman, Captain Hamilton was a model man in every respect.

Steadfast in his friendships, no more kindly or loyal heart ever throbbed in human breast. The unfaltering friend of truth and right he was the inveterate foe of wrong, and the lesson which his life's story teaches is an elevating and valuable one for all whose feet are just beginning to tread the pathway of human life. The life light is forever gone from the kindly eyes; the generous heart has been stilled. Peace to his ashes.

The funeral will take place from the late home of the deceased on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, under the auspices of Newark lodge of Masons, No. 97, of which the deceased was a prominent member.

Captain Hamilton was a member of Capt. John R. Duncan's company of Ohio Mounted Infantry in the war with Mexico in 1847 and 1848, and was the youngest boy in the company. After the close of the Mexican war he was one of the first from this county to make the trip overland to California, during the gold excitement. He also served gallantly in the war of the Rebellion in the First Ohio Volunteer Cavalry, and was Captain of Company D.

Captain Hamilton was married twice, both wives preceding him to the spirit land. The following children survive to mourn the death of a kind and loving father: Frank, Ella, Bessie and Ross, living at home and Charles, who resides in Denver, Colorado.

Capt. Hamilton was also a skilled taxidermist, and had a very fine collection of specimens of his own work at his home. He was widely known throughout the country as one of the best taxidermists in this section of the country, and many specimens of his work were in the old country.

The Licking County History contains the following sketch of Captain Hamilton:

"Samuel G. Hamilton, Jr., son of Samuel G. and Anna H. Hamilton, was born in Newark, October 5, 1829. He was the fourth child of a family of seven. His father came to this county in 1827, and settled in Newark, where he reared his family. The subject of this sketch, when ten years old, entered the printing office of Clark Duncan, where he remained for six years, when he engaged in the boot and shoe makers' trade, and after working at this for about one year, he enlisted in the service of the Mexican war under Captain John R. Duncan as mounted riflemen, and several in this capacity for fifteen months. After his return from the Mexican war, he turned his attention to traveling, making a 'three years' trip to California. He was one of the first from this county to the Golden State, and made the overland route. After his return to Newark he engaged in the boot and shoe business four years, when he turned his attention to horticulture, and in this he has been engaged ever since. Mr. Hamilton enlisted in the service of the war of the rebellion in June, 1861, and in August following, he was duly appointed first lieutenant of Co. D, First regiment of Ohio Cavalry December 16, 1862. He was appointed Captain of Co. D, First Ohio Cavalry, and was in charge of this company until April 24, 1863, when he resigned on account of ill health. During this time he participated in some of the more important conflicts. February 29, 1872, he received a commission of United States Marshal in which capacity he served for a number of years."

THE UNION OF TWO ESTATES

[Original.] Both estates were very large, the one consisting of hundreds of acres, the other of thousands. Wadsworth Towle was the owner of the smaller; Helen De Veaux would be the owner of the larger. It is an old story that young people of opposite sex, coming into a family estate are induced by their elders to marry, thus carrying out the modern commercial plan of "community of interest," and so it was in this case. Towle went to college, then traveled abroad. Miss De Veaux, after completing her education, chafed that she had been born rich. She pined for a vacation.

One June day Towle was wandering about his grounds and before he knew it found himself in the De Veaux estates. A young woman in the costume of a trained nurse was resting on a board seat between two trees reading or studying. Towle, who had been carried through a long illness by one of this profession and had a great admiration for them as a class, raised his hat politely.

"I beg pardon," he said. "Will you tell me who is ill at the house?"

"No matter," he added. "I have no right to pry into family secrets."

"Miss De Veaux is not very well."

"Indeed. I have—I mean we have—been informed of her illness."

"Why should you be informed?"

It occurred to Towle to play a part and learn something about the lady whose interests and his were identical.

"Well, I am Mr. Towle's business man, secretary, general utility man. He lives on the adjoining estate. Had I heard of Miss De Veaux's illness I should have suggested the propriety of his writing to express his concern. He would have directed me to write a letter, and in this case he would have copied it in his own hand and sent it to Miss De Veaux."

"Bless me. Is that the way these rich people express sympathy?"

"Usually."

"But I thought there was some talk of Mr. Towle's marrying Miss De Veaux. How could he be so coldly methodical with her?"

"He has never seen her. His family has long owned its estate here, hers only a few years, during which both Mr. Towle and Miss De Veaux have been getting an education."

"I see. Doesn't he rather shrink from such a cold blooded union?"

"He's a practical fellow, with no romantic nonsense about him."

"Then he's not like Miss De Veaux, who is in full sympathy with that romance which is at the bottom of every true heart."

"I am surprised. I supposed Miss De Veaux was rather practical. I have heard that she is proposing when she comes into this estate to organize a staff to assist her in devoting her immense income to practical charity."

"Her post-graduate education, so to speak, is directed with that end in view."

Towle sat down on the other end of the board and beat the grass with his cane.

"I wouldn't suppose," he said, "that Mr. Towle would care to marry that sort of woman. They are very well to admire at a distance, but they don't work well in double harness."

"I'm quite sure Miss De Veaux wouldn't care to marry a man who would write her a letter of sympathy drawn by his business man."

Towle sat for a few minutes with a sober look on his face, then turned to the nurse with a smile. "We are settling the affairs of our betters as though they were our own. Suppose we drop them and chat about other topics—that is, if you don't mind making an acquaintance in this way."

"A trained nurse can't be squeamish."

The pair talked for an hour, then parted, to meet when the nurse came off duty for an hour of recreation the next day. In this way they kept up a series of meetings for several weeks. Meanwhile Towle had sent a letter of sympathy with flowers to Miss De Veaux, asking to be allowed to call as soon as she was able to receive callers. One day he received a formal note signed by Miss Edna Knapp, Mrs. De Veaux's secretary, informing him that she was quite recovered and would be pleased to see him. Towle was somewhat startled at this method of communication, but Mrs. De Veaux might be still too weak to do her own correspondence. He did not much care, for he had been captivated by her nurse.

When Wadsworth Towle was ushered into the drawing room where Helen De Veaux, arrayed in plain but becoming costume, awaited him he started.

Mrs. De Veaux and her trained nurse were one and the same person.

"Pardon me sending you a note through my secretary, Mr. Towle. I should have made an exception to my rule in your case, but since your note of condolence to me came from your business man I presumed you wouldn't care. Were you aware that he sent me the flowers, or did they come under general instructions for cases of illness?"

"I have called to say," replied Towle with a quick recovery of his equanimity, "that all hope of our uniting these properties is ended. I have fallen in love with your nurse."

"Miss De Veaux bent her eyes to the floor."

"The nurse you met," she said, "is only a student. She is preparing herself to organize a staff, etc., and had just come in from her studies when she found you on the De Veaux property and recognized you at once. She has been graduated, and you will know her as a nurse no longer."

"And this is how the Towle and De Veaux properties came to be united?"

INSTINCT.

They christened him Reginald Percy de Vere;
They dressed him in ruffles and curled his back hair;
His mother declared him her own precious heir,
And forbade him to play with the boys around there,
Which was more than poor Reginald Percy could bear.

So he went out one day, curls and ruffles and all,
And strayed where the rudest of boys congregate.
Soon Reginald's ire, though his body was small,
Increased to proportions remarkably great.
And he issued a challenge, regardless of weight.

Now Reginald's eye has turned blacker than jet,
But he isn't complaining, which seems rather queer;
Till you learn that the other boy's eyes' blacker yet;
And there isn't a happier youth, far or near,
Than this dirty faced Reginald Percy de Vere.

The Full Measure of Success.

"Was your auto race successful?"
"Successful? I should say it was! There were two chauffeurs killed, and three owners mortally hurt, and five innocent bystanders sent to the hospital, and one auto climbed a stone wall and flung itself down a steep cliff, and another auto threw off its chauffeur and is now careering wildly across the country and terrorizing the community," and Hoskin's new touring car crossed the Verline ravine at a single bound and then jumped on the roof of a gamekeeper's cottage, and—well, it certainly was the most spirited and thoroughly enjoyable run we have ever had."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

SELECTIONS

FOOLING THE SMOKERS.

A Vast Amount of Perique Sold, but Only a Little Raised.

"Speaking of tobacco consumption," said a diligent user of the weed who knows a few things about the business, "if imitation is the sincerest flattery in everything then Louisiana perique tobacco occupies a singularly enviable position in the world of mild narcotic pleasures. The annual production of the famous brand of tobacco is between 40,000 and 50,000 pounds, the total production of the world famous vacheres of St. James parish. Yet it is of record, according to the statement of a drummer who was recently in New Orleans, that his house uses 200,000 pounds of perique tobacco a year as an ingredient of one of the 'perique mixtures' supplied to the smoking public of America. Where the perique comes from the drummer does not know, but he knows that his house last year sold perique mixture in volume sufficient to account for the disposal of four or five times the entire production of the genuine perique crop.

"The term 'perique crop,' however, is a misnomer, for perique tobacco is not a natural product, but manufactured. A particular tobacco is grown and then treated especially, with the result of what is commercially known as perique. The many imitations with which the public are supplied are, it is said by experts, virtually the same in quality and flavor, though not the same as perique in either the original natural leaf nor in process of manipulation into marketable ways, acetic acid being used by some commercial houses, whereas the genuine perique is not subjected to the influence of any foreign matter whatever."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Indian Territory Capitals.

"The educators of the Indian Territory should endeavor to educate the various schoolbook publishing companies in regard to the capitals of the Indian country," recently said Tams Bixby, chairman of the Dawes commission. "Every geography published has Tahlequah as the capital of the Indian Territory. The maps of the territory in these geographies show scarcely any other towns. But Tahlequah is always placed up in heavy black letters, with the star representing the capital. It is about time that authors of geographies knew something of the geography of the Indian country, and the educators here ought to draw their attention to the inaccuracies of the textbooks on geography.

As a matter of fact the Indian Territory proper has no capital, as it is not a regularly organized territory. It is simply the Indian Territory.

The seat of government is Muskogee. Each of the five civilized tribes, however, has a capital. Tahlequah is the capital of the Cherokee nation, Okmulgee of the Creek nation, Tishomingo of the Chickasaw nation, Wewoka of the Seminole nation and Tuskahoma of the Choctaw nation.

The Balkan Crowns.

Assassination tempered by abdication—such has been the fate of most Balkan rulers. Since the Balkan peoples were emancipated King Otto of Greece, Prince Cuza of Roumania, Prince Alexander of Bulgaria, Prince Alexander Karageorgievitch and King Milan of Serbia have been forced to abdicate, while Prince Danilo of Montenegro, Prince Michael, King Alexander and Queen Draga of Serbia, as well as Kara George, the Serbian liberator, have been murdered.

In addition attempts were made on the lives of the late Queen Amalia and King George of Greece, as well as on the late King Milan of Serbia.

Out of the sixteen Balkan rulers who have held sway during the last century four alone—two Montenegrins and Milosh Obrenovitch II. and the short lived Milan Obrenovitch I. of Serbia—died peacefully on their thrones, while four are still alive. The remaining eight were all murdered or expelled, and even Milosh Obrenovitch was once compelled to abdicate temporarily.

New Stories About the Kaiser.

An anecdote about the Kaiser is reported from Metz. When he was told at the railway station that 2,000 girls in the costume of the country awaited his arrival he asked the official who notified him of this fact if he must kiss them all. To the burgomaster he said, "See that they all become worthy mothers of soldiers." During a ride which the Kaiser made in the neighborhood he asked his suit if it were not possible to find a grasshopper anywhere. After some search a grasshopper was found, which was carefully packed in cardboard at the Kaiser's request and sent as an imperial present to the regiment of fusiliers of the guard stationed at Potsdam. The explanation is that this regiment is popularly known as the Grasshoppers.

Reptiles and Water.

A Viennese naturalist, M. Werner, has been investigating the sense perceptions of reptiles and amphibians and has arrived at some unexpected results. After examination of 186 individual animals he has come to the conclusion that these creatures have some power of finding water not possessed by human beings. They seemed capable of going direct to a body of water of the existence of which they would, it appeared, have no ordinary means of knowing. According to M. Werner, the sight of the reptile is like that of fish—distinctly limited to near objects—while their sense of hearing is very poor.

Goats That Fight.

A species of the wild goat, the Capra rupell, haunts the rocks of the Abyssinian highlands and manages to hold its own as to fight against all enemies, with the exception of the fleet footed Jackal, an adversary whose co-operative tactics and keenness of scent make fight unavailing and have led the capras to the conclusion that under certain circumstances valor may be the better part of discretion. The yelp of an approaching horde of jackals is therefore a signal for instant rally on the part of the goats. The nannies crowd around their kids, and the bucks rush forward en masse, butting away with a rage that lays out a yelper at every spring and makes the survivors stand back howling and cowering.

Influence of Laughter on Digestion.

The efficacy of laughter as an aid to assimilation and alimentation has passed into such a common physiological truism that no one of ordinary intelligence needs to have the principle upon which it works elucidated for his understanding in these days of widely disseminated dietetic knowledge. The average person who is not continuously "in the dumps" knows from experience that laughter is good for digestion, says What to Eat. It should be borne in mind that mirth and good cheer need not express themselves in convulsive laughter in order to influence digestion. An amiable, contented, calm and equable temperament has marked influence upon the digestive processes without laughter.

A Silver Riddle.

English tram car companies use in counting the money taken in what is called a "silver riddle." Four or five frames are placed on the top of each other, and a given quantity of mixed silver is emptied in on to the topmost. Shake the latter and all the pieces except the half crowns will disappear through the wire net arrangement on to the frame below. Shake frame No. 2 and everything goes through except the florins, and thus the coins are eventually exhausted down to the three-penny pieces.

Two Games Friday Afternoon.
Unless rain again interferes there will be two interesting games of baseball at the Y. M. C. A. grounds, next Friday afternoon. Manager Fitzgerald has booked the crack team of the 20th regiment, U. S. regulars, at the Columbus barracks, to play the Y. M. C. A. team at 2 o'clock. The soldiers have been playing regularly in the Saturday afternoon League in Columbus. They appear in baseball uniform and play a fine game.
Then at 4 o'clock the much talked of championship contest between the merchants and bankers will be played off. Everybody should plan to go to the Y. M. C. A. grounds Friday and see these games. As the dry goods, furniture, millinery and jewelry stores close that afternoon there will no doubt be a large crowd out.

Dayton Nationals Next Sunday.
The opponents of the Idlewild baseball club on next Sunday, will be the strong Nationals of Dayton. This club is one which ranks high among the independent teams of the state and should put up a fast game with the home team. It is probable that several faces will be seen on the Dayton team that will be recognized as old favorites by Newark's population.
Arrangements are also being made to bring Urbana here for a Sunday game, which will be played probably two weeks from next Sunday.

IN MEMORY.
Mrs. Nora Anderson, nee Williams, died June 27, after an operation at Mount Carmel Hospital in Columbus, Ohio. After her death her two sisters, Mrs. O. W. Jones of Columbus and Mrs. E. Fulton of Cherry Valley accompanied the remains to Mrs. Anderson's former home at Peru, Ind. Mrs. Anderson had been sick just one year with kidney trouble. She was aged 45 years and leaves one son who was the pride of her heart and the sunshine of their home. Her every thought and anxiety was to get well and return to that son that they might again be united in their pleasant home, which was indeed a haven of rest to mother and son. Mrs. Anderson also leaves four sisters and two brothers who are broken hearted over the loss of their darling sister. We will miss her words of comfort, words which helped us to take heart. We will miss the balm so healing which our sister could impart.

IN MEMORY OF MY SISTER.
Heaven seems nearer, sister, since thou hast died,
And the river not so dark and wide.
The golden portals on the other shore
Seem to shine brighter than ever before.
Heaven seems dearer than ever before,
Since thou hast past o'er to its sainted shore.
Nearer and dearer since thy precious feet
Pressed the sands of the golden street.

ELECTION

NEXT FRIDAY FOR COLONEL OF FOURTH REGIMENT.

Great Pressure Brought to Bear on Lieutenant Col. Bargar, to Announce His Candidacy.

(Columbus Dispatch)

Major General Jno. C. Speaks in command of the Second brigade, O. N. G., representing the sentiment of the line officers of the Fourth regiment, called upon Governor Nash and Adjutant General Gyger on Monday with a request that a convention of the Fourth regiment be called for next Wednesday, to be held at the Fourth armory here and that an election for colonel, lieutenant colonel and major be held on Friday of this week.

This plan was decided upon at the regular monthly meeting of the Fourth's officers, held Sunday at the armory, at which General Speaks presided.

Representation was complete, those being present as follows: Major Fred C. Titus, Marion; Captain Hershey, Washington C. H.; Major Elmer Blizard and Captains Knauss and Henry, Newark; Captain Huff and Lieutenants Benton and Finley, Delaware; Captain Newlove, Marysville; Captain Wilson, Chillicothe; Captain Bull, Xenia; Captain Armstrong, London; and Captains Oyler, Stimmel and Snively, Columbus.

Plans for reorganization of the regiment were discussed and the most minute details were gone over. It was the consensus of opinion of all the officers present that the regiment should be completely reorganized, and at once so that it will be in good shape for the annual encampment, and unless this reorganization takes place there will be no encampment of that regiment this year.

It is probable that the old company A, of this city, which exists only on paper at the present time, will be reorganized sometime this week, and at once mustered into the guard.

The proposed candidacy of Lieutenant Colonel Byron A. Bargar was discussed, but that officer has positively declined to be a candidate for the command of the regiment, but is willing to withdraw his resignation and remain as lieutenant colonel, provided a colonel of ability is chosen.

One of the most likely candidates for the honor is General H. A. Axline, who is not averse to re-entering the guard, and is considered a man of military ability, as well as of social standing in that community and in the state.

General Axline is quoted as saying that he would feel it an honor to be chosen to command such a regiment, and that while he would make no effort to secure the place, he would accept it if chosen.

The groom is popular among his acquaintances, and an industrious young man of good habits. He is in the employ of the B. & O. and is now with the train used by the Western Union linemen who are working in this vicinity. Mr. and Mrs. Thorne will make their home in Barnesville for the present.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore, requires constitutional treatment. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer One Hundred Dollars for any case it fails to cure. COLISEUM

ONE OF THE BIG ATTRACTIONS OF EAGLES' CARNIVAL

In Which a Truly Modern, Thrilling, and Up to Date Performance is Given.

The Coliseum is without a doubt the best attraction ever exhibited in a street carnival. The large audience that was present Monday evening was the best pleased audience that ever visited a show of any kind.

The show is composed of daring performances, any one of which is well worth the price of admission. The Coliseum performance is not a five or ten minute affair. But two performances are given daily and these are of at least an hour and a half's duration. The doors open at 3:30 in the afternoons and at 8:30 nights.

The exhibit of the African lions, leopards and panthers in one page is good. Mlle. Vallecita, their trainer, enters the cage and puts the animals through all kinds of tricks. She is the only person who has ever accomplished the marvelous feat of riding on a lion's back.

Chief Ambark and his troupe of Arabian acrobats pleased those present with their wonderful feats of ground and lofty tumbling.

Minnie Viola, who claims to be the champion battle ax and knife thrower of the world, gives an exhibition that makes people nervous. A man stands against a board while she hurls knives and battle axes around him. It is a dangerous trick and one that would mean death or a serious injury with one less skilled in the art of knife throwing.

Ben, the trick pony, delighted the children and amused the grown people. Ben is so well educated that he seems to have human perception. He picks out the prettiest girl in the audience and answers any and all questions of general interest.

Conners and Roberts, barrel jumpers and acrobats, present a pleasing and original exhibition of tumbling in and out of barrels, over tables, chairs and other obstacles. The performance is much more difficult than it seems.

The flying Do Bells, representative acrobats on the flying trapeze, give a good exhibition in mid-air, during which they introduce their famous head downward walk. It is one of the most startling numbers on the program.

One of the features of the show is the aerial cycle whirl, by the McNutts. A man begins to ride on the circular cycle track and the track, rider and all gradually ascend by means of machinery, until the cycle track is a considerable distance from the street below. The track then slowly descends. While in mid-air the track is without a bottom and if the rider stops for an instant he is sure to meet with a serious accident. The performance is done without nets and is one of the most hazardous and daring acts now before the public. It must be seen to be appreciated.

Other creditable acts are given. A free exhibition is given before each show and Prof. O. W. Pixley's concert brass band furnishes the music.

The admission is 10 cents for children and 25 cents for adults.

The coliseum is located on the South Side of the Square and is the biggest show in the carnival. During the performance at the coliseum no free shows are in progress.

The Coliseum seats about 2000 people although the show is a little crowded for want of space. Ask your neighbor what he thinks of the show. It is a stupendous production, and should be appreciated.

Every evening and every afternoon a free exhibition is given in front of the Coliseum. A trapeze has been erected and on this the De Clairvilles give a thrilling and wonderful exhibition. It is a truly modern and up to date performance. The acrobats present a dangerous exhibition and do it with such rapidity that the people below marvel at their dexterity. The free exhibition is given immediately before each performance and should not be missed. Wright's Carnival band gives a free concert while the performance is going on.

FRANTIC MOTHER

Shot the Bear and Saved Her Babe as It Was Carried Off.

St. Joseph, Mich., July 14—Mrs. Frank Gray, living a few miles east of Prescott, with a family of four children, was engaged in picking berries near her home, when a large black bear put in his appearance, having journeyed into the open field from his hiding place in the nearby woods. The three older children ran from the field into the house and left behind the baby seated under a tree. The bear had picked up the child and had started off with it, when the frightened mother rushed into the house, seized a rifle, and, taking aim, shot the animal dead. The child escaped with slight injuries.

The penalty was fixed at 10 years' imprisonment in the penitentiary. Mrs. Cummings will, on July 20, be tried for the alleged murder of her third husband, Edgar M. Harris, who died October 5, 1901. A Mystery.

"Well, well!" exclaimed Mrs. Henpeck, laying down her copy of "Paradise Lost." "There couldn't be anything more awful than the fall of all those angels. I can't imagine what excuse they had to become so desperate."

"That's so," replied Henpeck, musingly. "None of them were married."
